

Kidney-weed Dichondra repens

Flowers: September - December. Prostrate x W 1-2m.

Dense carpeting ground-cover tolerating most soils types; sunny to shady positions. Can be a lawn substitute for light use areas, & takes well to mowing. The kidney-shaped leaves are about three centimetres across. The flowers are small and inconspicuous. Excellent for rockeries or in between stepping-stone pathways. A hardy and adaptable plant that thrives in moist semi-shade areas.
