

Austral Indigo Indigofera australis

Flowers: September to December - H 1-2m x W 1-2m.

Slender upright shrub of the Pea family. Likes well drained moist sandy soils in a sunny to semi-shady position. Flowers with spectacular show of mauve to purple flowers. Attractive blue-green foliage through the winter months. Adaptable to most soil types. Reasonably drought tolerant once established. Can be short lived if the planting position is too dry or waterlogged. Supplementary summer watering improves the vigor and density of flowers & more luxuriant foliage. After flowering the shrub produces shiny bright-green pods. Noted as taking well to some light pruning.
